    Glenna Johnson, Lansing, MI, representative from the Service Employees International Union. New Center (owned and operated by Hope Network) has had a bedbug infestation since February 2015. The company has been telling employees that they can’t afford to treat or eradicate it. Residents’ clothing is being kept in bags in the basement or outdoors, and their rooms have been virtually stripped of all furniture except the beds. Both residents and staff have been bitten; the infestation is so bad that the bugs are visible during the day.
    B. Swiecicki advised this is not a home with which we contract, we have no jurisdiction in these complaints.
    L. Keller suggested a complaint be made to Licensing and the Health Department. Ms. Johnson stated she would follow up with the proper agencies.
Valentine A. Rivera, 3305 Jefferson St. in Carlton, MI. Mr. Valentine works at Weiss Home (in Saginaw County) and states staff are afraid to complain about working conditions because of fears of retaliation. Even though this home is under the jurisdiction of Saginaw CMH, he wanted us to know what the culture was like under Hope Network.
